OPEN FORUM FOR DEBATING STATE WIDE PROHIBITION

The very important issue of state-wide prohibition has been raised. A campaign in favor of a constitutional amendment will be shortly instituted. This, like all other important questions has two sides, on each of which are found honest and intelligent persons.

The Republican has decided to provide for a reasonable discussion of this issue in its pages, allowing to each side at least a half column daily for signed articles, for which there will be no charge. No anonymous article will be published.

It is only stipulated that the communications for and against prohibition be just and fair and that in no case shall there be any wild and extravagant statement that will in any way reflect upon the reputation of Phoenix for good order.

It is suggested by The Republican that either side, desiring to avail itself of this offer of space, name a committee through which all matter relating to the issue shall be transmitted. In such case, all communications received at this office from other sources will be rejected. We believe that this arrangement is necessary to keep the discussion within reasonable lines.

No paid advertisements from either side will be accepted.

THE BOY, BOOZE AND BISHOP

In the back of my head lies an ancient story of Sam Johnson, the bluff, bearish, brainy scholar of Britain. In the height of his fame he was found standing in a downpour of rain on the open road of an English village. When asked his reason for this queer procedure the dripping USA replied: "I was making amonement on the spot where I disobeyed my father forty years ago."

I recently returned to my boyhood neighborhood. Full of gratitude I rolled four decades from my shoulders and stood up therein to praise the memory of a good man whose advice I accepted and whose dictum I obeyed with undeniable advantage to myself and others. In the pulpit of the church to which he belonged I stood and called his name, remembered by few for he died years ago, and all his kin are scattered. I told the folk that he was my boss during the Civil War in a factory where I toiled as a boy. How he showed interest in his underlings and stirred them to join a society, now forgotten, called "The Cadets of Temperance," an offspring of "The Sons of Temperance." I recited the dim scene, where, in the lodge room, I took the vow of total abstinence with uplifted hand in solemn mood, how I signed the roster, drank the pledge of fealty in cold water, sang the ode, received the password, and went out girded for the fray against King Alcohol.

As I walked home alone that summer night across the fields, with frogs calling "knee-deep," and fireflies weaving their mystic dance around me, I paused at a stile to repeat my obligation and renew my youthful resolve to abstain from all intoxicants.

Half a life time after, in a state asylum for feeble-minded children, when I heard the matron say that three-fourths of the imbecile inmates were the progeny of drunken parents. I dug up my oath against rum and deep in my soul registered once more my undying hatred of this fell destroyer.

A short time after my adolescent initiation I was sternly tested on this matter. I was apprenticed to the bricklayer's trade.

My employer knew his business well, was a skillful craftsman, but much given to drink, as were all his employees. At noon of my first day he bade me pour the water from the pail, go to a near-by tavern, and get it filled with ale for the dinner. I brought it as ordered, took my place at the end of the line, seated like the rest in the shadow of the wall, and saw the bucket with a tin cup therein coming slowly toward me. I trembled inwardly as I saw that every bricklayer, every hod carrier, every mortar mixer, every apprentice drank the beer. From my master down each took a share, and I realized that I, a poor weak lad, on my first day in a new crew, must offend the whole gang, censure their customs, stand their sneers, endure their scoffs, or surrender my principles.

When the booze reached me I whispered a refusal to the one who passed it, but the "gaffer," thinking I was merely timid in new company, cried out in hearty old country style:

"Take it, Robert, don't be shy, I pay for it; you are one of us, have your sip of it."

I said, with faltering voice, while all eyes turned on me: "Excuse me, Mr. George, I never drank liquor and cannot begin now."

He laughed uproariously, as did the others, and shouted: "Ho, ho, lad, you'll never be a bricklayer till you learn to drink."

I put the untouched meal in my basket, arose slowly, shaking like an aspen tree, and, walking down the row of scornful workmen, I paused before the leader and said: "Mr. George, if that is true, I will go home and tell my father I am discharged; for drink liquor I will not, now or ever; I will not!"

I think I had mysterious help that day, unseen of all. To my amazement the boss leaped up, took my hand and said: "Good! these you, boy, stand fast and you will be a man some day." Then to the wage-earners he said: "If any man of you ever asks him to drink you will suffer for it."

The first step is the hardest, and I had won the heaviest battle. I worked four years with him and saw the ruin drink made. One of my early friends became through it a murderer; another a madman; another an outcast; another a thief. I have seen wives crushed, homes destroyed, children disgraced, babies diseased, families divided, mothers bereft, brothers estranged, firms bankrupted, lawyers degraded, doctors degenerated and ministers debauched. And all who are in prisons, insane asylums, or incurable hospitals, who rot in lazarettos, or sleep in potter's field through this treacherous foe of God and man began as moderate drinkers.

My words will not reach or shake the inhuman parasites who are fattened by the gains of this awful traffic, but to the boys I cry: Swear eternal enmity to rum, and enlist for this holy war till America is free from it forever.

Actions of Certain "Goat Men" Arouse Ire of Moners of Copper Basin; Result, a Petition.

Anyway, one gathers that there is a widely spread and popular dislike of the act of Mr. S. W. Holder of Yavapai county, in fencing certain lands. But amusement, as well as indignation in the laws of the land and in the ways of the Goat Men and of the miners may be secured from the following petition, a "copy" of which was received at the land office yesterday.

TO A PETITION, AND PROTEST, BY THE MINERS AND CITIZENS OF KIRKLAND AND COPPER BASIN MINING DISTRICTS AGAINST THE INTERNATIONAL GOAT MEN'S ASSOCIATION AND ONE OF ITS OFFICERS, NAMELY S. W. HOLDER IN YAVAPAI COUNTY, COUNTY STATE OF ARIZONA. TO THE VERIOUS U. S. LAND OFFICES IN THE U. S. A. AND THE PRESIDENT.

HONORABLE SIRS:

The undersigned citizens of said mining districts do hereby and by this presence depose:

That all the now vacant lands in said districts are principally Mineral lands and set aside for mineral purposes.

And have been mined and are still being mined for the past twenty five years at least.

And in order to make any other entry of said lands than under the chapter six title 32 of the U. S. revised statutes that it would require a close investigation to prevent fraudulent entries of mineral lands of great value.

And further:— That for some time past there has been a set of goat men who are members of the said International Goat Association; who have been and are still making illegal entries of various mineral lands of the said districts for the soul purposes of Goat Grazing only.

And that said goat men are unscrupulous in their representations and act as false witnesses for each other to the extent that they do not hesitate to testify falsely or even commit thefts to gain their points at issue.

And further:— That one S. W. Holder, A Goat Man by profession and an officer of the said International Goat Association in 1911 established a Goat Camp in the Copper Basin Wash just above the Tufer Canon on the Government Thouroufare from Kirkland Arizona to Fort Whipple at Prescott Arizona and about four miles north easterly from Kirkland, Arizona.

Said land being held for years as a strictly placer mineral reserve and at one time a part of the Prescott National forest reserve.

And:— That said mineral reserve is covered with small trees and brush of Oak Mul-berry, Hack-berry Walnut and other Wood.

And the said S. W. Holder is fencing large quantities of said Mineral Reserve with wire fences and cutting the post to do the fencing off from said land.

And stopping all travel on said Highway and Thouroufare by said obstructions and claiming he has filed a Homestead and desert claim of (320) acres.

While he is also fencing vacant mineral lands other than said illegal claims.

And we, the undersigned:— Do hereby Protest and Pray: that the proper authorities will at once cause said S. W. Holder as well as all others guilty: to at once desist from further illegal entry and occupation of the said illegal obstructions from said mineral reserves.

And:— That said vacant, in said mining districts, shall be held as Mineral Reserved lands of the U. S. A. and open to location and discovery under Chapter 7 Title 32 of the U. S. Revised statutes only.

In witness whereof we hereby set our hands and seals this 29th day of July, A. D. 1914.

(Here follow about 25 signatures.) In addition to the petition, there are copies of "correspondence" between the supposed circulator of the petition and the officials of the land offices, and U. S. commissioners, but the gem of the collection—a letter to me less a personage than the president of the United States, is selected to round out the narrative.

Mr. Woodrow Wilson, President The U. S. A., Washington, D. C.
Rite Honorable Sir:—

The herewith inclosures, are true copies of what has been sent to the General U. S. Land offices, at Phoenix, Arizona and the Interior Department at Washington, D. C.

And owing to the great amount of graft in U. S. Mineral lands entries in this state, Your Petitioners have deemed it advisable to tender you a copy thereof of the herewith Petition.

And earnestly request, and pray, you will use your high office in Justice to all. As ever,

Faithfully, The People.
